WM. B. PELL, Proprietor.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS;

OR

HOW WE GOT MARRIED.

I.

"Don't fret, Jennie, lass; you shall have the ear rings, and something over for a frilled tucker, or whatever you may fancy. Come, take your choice, girl."

Jennie came slowly forward and rested her hand on her father's shoulder as she glanced listlessly over the wares which the pedlar spread before her.

"Humph! it's not the ear-rings nor the tucker that she's worrying about," observed the mother, glancing up sharply from her inspection of a gay chintz. "She's taking on about that lad, Frank Duncan, who neighbor Burwell told us, is to leave the day after to-morrow to seek his fortune, as he says."

"And I hope he'll find it," said the farmer, gravely. "He's a good enough lad, and I'd have nothing to say against him if he'd give less time to books and more to work, so's to make money enough for a wife to live on. When young Duncan comes back with five hundred dollars in hand, Jennie, I'll think better of him; but no daughter of mine shall marry a penniless man."

As the farmer spoke, he was slowly and carefully untying a well-worn leather wallet, which he had taken from the upper drawer of an old-fashioned bureau with brass handles, which stood in a corner of the large kitchen. From a goodly-sized bundle of notes he selected one of ten dollars, which he handed to the pedlar.

"I've no change," he replied to some remarks of his wife. "They're all tens and twenties—one hundred and twenty-five dollars in all," he added, in a tone of satisfaction. "Jekyl's done a good job wi' the cattle this year, and if the crop turns out as well, you shall have something better than that chintz, Hetty, for Christmas time—and you, too, Jennie, lass."

The pedlar's small, keen black eye glanced furtively at the notes as the farmer smoothed them out upon his knee and replaced them in the wallet.

"Here's one hundred, clear, for the bank," he observed, as he tied the wallet securely with its red-tape string. "I'll take it down to Logansville, Thursday. Meantime, Hetty, put it away in the little box there."

Mrs. Hallet deposited the wallet carefully in a tin box and replaced the box in the bureau draw, which she locked, hanging the key on a nail which was driven in the back of the bureau itself.

Jennie, having selected her ear rings and a piece of lace for a "tucker," sat down to sew the latter on the neck of her best blue delaine dress. There was to be a "face" at neighbor Burwell's that evening, and a dance after; and though in no dancing mood, she would go, for she knew that Frank Duncan was to be there, and this would be their last meeting before he departed to [illegible]

Poor girl! it was her first sorrow, and we all know how hard are such to the young, with their helplessness, their inexperience, and their ignorance of life. As she sat on the side of her little bed sewing the lace on the blue dress, she looked and felt very sad. Much as she loved her parents she could not help thinking them cruel and unfeeling in this instance, when they must know how clearly she loved Frank, and that she could never, never be happy without him. He was so clever, so handsome, so good—and yet they objected to him because he was poor! As if she, or Frank either, minded poverty! Oh, if he had only that five hundred dollars her father had spoken of. But five hundred dollars! how in this world could Frank ever make that enormous sum!

Her mother's voice, calling her to supper, aroused her. With country hospitality, the good dame had added some extra dishes to the usual evening's meal, and she looked a little disappointed at the pedlar's non-appreciation of the good things set before him. He seemed absent and restless; and, declining the proffered night's lodging, said he must go "right on" to Logansville to-night, in order to meet a friend whom he expected there. So after joining in with a fervent "amen" to the host's after-grace, and thanking them in a pious strain for their hospitality, he shouldered his pack and resumed his journey. From the window, Jennie, looking listlessly out, saw his tall form disappear at a bend of the road about a mile distant, and dreamily heard her father's remark:

"I don't fancy that stranger. Some-how, he don't look to me like a genuine pedlar—not sharp enough at bargaining, not interested enough in his business. And then I noticed he never looks you right in the eye—always a bad sign."

"Well," observed his little thrifty wife, "I can't say as I liked him the less for his easy bargains. He don't make much profit by 'em, though, I guess, judging from that old camlet coat of his with its patched elbows and old-fashioned long tails flapping about his heels. I can remember my grand father had just such another. But Jennie, girl, if you're going to the 'bee,' it's high time to bestir yourself. Why, its nigh six o'clock already."

II.

It was a still, moonlight summer night as Jennie Hallet walked lingeringly along the meadow path, homeward from farmer Burwell's. Lingeringly—for her hand was clasped in that of Frank Duncan, and he was talking to her earnestly, as they passed under the shadow of the water willows, or paused for a moment on the rustic bridge that spanned the meadow creek.

"I'll do it, Jennie! there I swear!"

"Oh, Frank, don't swear!

"Then I promise—yes, here I promise not to rest, day or night, until I have five hundred dollars to show your father."

"But how will you get it, Frank?"

"I don't know yet; but I'll find out a way—only, Jennie dear, I fear it will be a long time."

They walked on in silence.

"I wish I were rich!" burst forth Duncan, passionately. "I never cared for it before, but I do now, for your sake—and mine, Jennie. If I had only one thousand dollars!"

"A thousand dollars, Frank!"

To her kiss, he might as well have wished for the wealth of Monte Christo.

"It is not a large sum, Jennie. Yet five hundred dollars would purchase that pretty little place near the old church that you admire so much, and with another five hundred to stock it and begin with—Oh, Jennie, only think how happy a little money could make us!"

"It's no use thinking," said the girl, sadly. "And, Frank, you are so given to thinking and dreaming, that"—she looked up with a tender, half smile—"I'm afraid you'll never set to work hard enough to make even the five hundred."

"I'll try, Jennie. Never fear of that."

They had now reached the bottom of farmer Hallet's garden, and here they paused a while, exchanging a few last sentences. Then with a sad, lingering adieu, they parted.

It was eleven o'clock. Jennie heard the old kitchen clock strike as she passed slowly up the garden walk. She paused at the gate and looked back toward the meadow with a strange yearning and desolation at her heart. He was gone, and the world seemed very dreary to her. She feared it would never be bright again. So the young always think in their first disappointment.

Turning at length to open the gate, her foot struck upon something soft and yielding. She looked down, and saw some dark object on the ground, nearly hidden beneath the low slash boughs. Taking it up, she saw that it was a coat—her father's she fancied—and with a momentary wonder as how it should have come there, she went softly into the house, bearing the garment with her. As she stole up stairs to her own little room, she fancied she heard a slight sound below, in the kitchen adjoining her parents' bed room. She heard it again as he was retiring, and then a step on the little back stoop; and as she looked out of her window, fancied that she saw a figure disappear through the garden gate. She wondered who it could be. Was it some on looking for that coat? And turning to where she had mechanically dropped it on a chair, she examined it by the candle light. It was not her father's. It was a patched and faded, long-skirted camlet coat—the coat which she had seen worn by the pedlar that evening.

"He will come back for it, perhaps," thought the girl; and she hung it carefully on a nail in the upper entry closet.

But the pedlar never came back for the lost garment. And it was understood why, when on Thursday, Farmer Hallet, opening the bureau to take out his hundred dollars for deposit in the Logansville Bank, found the tin box and the wallet safe, but the money all gone.

Search was made for the pedlar, but in vain. No one had seen a person at all answering his description, unless it were a pious Methodist preacher who had passed hurriedly through Logansville on a journey to the west, as missionary to the Indians; and to suspect him would be a shame!

Yet, some time after, neighbor Burwell reading in the city paper a description of a noted burglar who had broken out of prison, and for some weeks past baffled the detectives, remarked that he and the pedlar must be either the same or twin brothers, so exactly did the description tally with the appearance of the pedlar.

So the old coat hung unseen and forgotten, in the back entry closet until fall, when Mrs. Hallet in her quarterly "cleanings" espied it.

"Jennie," said she, "I wish that you would take that old scarecrow way from here.—I cannot abide the sight of it."

"What shall I do with it, mother?"

"Whatever you like. It's your's. I suppose, as you found it, nobody ever claim it."

"It's too good to throw away," said Jennie. "Suppose I take the lower skirts and make a petticoat for old Peggy Burns? It is lined with woolen, and will make her a warm garment for winter."

So Jennie took the coat to her room, and sat down in the October sunshine to rip up and re fashion the garment.

She thought of Frank—she was always thinking of him now—and wondered whether he would ever make the five hundred dollars. Oh, that five hundred dollars! how it rang in her head, alway!

Rip! rip! Something opposed to progress of the scissrs in the thick wadding of the old coat. Tearing open she drew what looked like a soiled greenish rag. It was paper, however, and as she unfolded it she saw to her surprise, that it was a ten-dollar bill—a fifty dollar bill! Another and another followed. Through all the lining of the old garment were carefully padded these precious bits of paper; and Jennie Hallet, sitting in her little room alone, counted them all out upon her lap—fifteen hundred dollars!

She kept her secret—at least from her family. But some days after, she rode into Logansville on horseback, alone, as she was accustomed to do, and at the express-office deposited a little package, addressed to "Francis Duncan, Esq." And by return mail came an anonymous letter to farmer Hallet, enclosing one hundred dollars, "to replace the money unlawfully taken from him," which incident set the neighbours discoursing upon the power of conscience.—And before Christmas, Frank Duncan himself made his appearance, and boldly asked farmer Hallet for the hand of his daughter Jennie; mentioning, in answer to the farmer's inquiries, that he had "more than fifteen hundred dollars in bill." And the next thing was, that Mr. Duncan purchased the pretty place by the old church, and thither in the spring took his young bride, where they were as happy as new married people generally are.

Jennie said that she and Frank had only "borrowed" the money, and it should be restored whenever the owner should appear. But we have as yet heard of no claimant.

CATCH THE HOUSE BURNERS!!

They are Desperate! Neither life nor Property are Safe when they are About!

OUR STORE WAS BURNED LAST NIGHT, causing a loss to us of $7,500. Evidence in hand shows that ELLICK KEEN and PETER SANDFORD, (colored) with HENRIETTA HEARN, (white woman) are the incendiaries. They left their house on last Friday, and all efforts to find them, so far, have been in vain.

ELLICK is Blacksmith; is a jet black, good in the shoulders, downward look, quick eye, with rather a womanish voice,—about 25 years old and 5 feet 10 inches high.

PETER is a little taller, not jet black; bad eyes and a large space between upper front teeth,—about 28 years old.

Each one will weigh about 160.

HENRIETTA HEARN is about 30 years; features ordinary; has, or did have a child, 4 or about 6 years old, with her.

The parties have been intimate for some time and have left together,—it is not known in what direction.

This loss has impoverished us greatly, but a liberal reward will be paid for their arrest, or any information that will lead to it.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Radicals are so enamored of office, and so pleased with the prospect of its emoluments, that, like the sow at the wash, to use a very homely illustration, their tails must be pulled off, to get them away. It was a vile partizan imposition and cheat, when the Radical Convention determined to fix the tenure of office of Executive State officers at four, instead of two years. Two years is long enough, in all conscience, for the people of the State to be bored and afflicted by incompetent or unworthy officers. If they prove themselves worthy, it is easy to re-elect them.

But we learn that the Radicals are trying to twist their own badly-constructed Constitution to mean what it does not say, by claiming that the members of the present General Assembly were elected, recently, to hold over four years from the first Thursday in August next. This opinion is based wholly upon the construction put upon the following section of Art. II. of the new Constitution:

SECTION 27. The terms of office for Senators and members of the House of Representatives shall commence at the time of their election; and the term of office of those elected at the first election held under this Constitution shall terminate at the same time as if they had been elected at the first ensuing regular election.

It is contended, that the whole matter turns upon the question whether the recent election was a regular election, under the Constitution, or not. If so, then it would be easy to show, that their term of office terminates on the first Thursday of August, or sooner, if the General Assembly chose to order a regular election under the new Constitution. No such election has yet been held, but the new Constitution does fix the time for a regular election under it, on the first Thursday in August, 1870. It would not be difficult to prove, to any intelligent legal mind, that the whole proceeding is irregular and unconstitutional, from stem to stern, but, taking things as we find them, the meaning of Art. II. can only be determined by the structure of the whole article, and not by the meaning of a single section of that article.

Sec. 3. and sec. 6. declare that the Senators and Representatives, who compose the General Assembly, shall be chosen biennially by ballot. That settles the principle that each General Assembly is a biennial body, like the U. S. House of Representatives, i. e., has a two years' term, although it holds annual sessions; but as it was expected the new regime would go into operation before the 1st. Thursday in August next, in order to prevent another election, Sec. 27. was framed so as to empower the General Assembly, elected irregularly in April, 1868, to hold over till the first Thursday in August, 1870.

Sec. 29. of the II. Art., however, taken together with sections 3. and 6., fixes definitely the tenure of office for the General Assembly and the time when the next election shall be held for members of that body, as follows:

Sec. 29. The election for members of the General Assembly shall be held for the respective districts, and counties, at the places where they are now held, or may be directed hereafter to be held, in such manner as may be prescribed by law, on the first Thursday in August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and every two years thereafter. But the General Assembly may change the time of holding the elections. The first election shall be held when the vote shall be taken on the ratification of this Constitution by the voters of the State, and the General Assembly, then elected, shall meet on the fifteenth day after the approval thereof by the Congress of the United States, if it fall not on Sunday, but if it shall so fall, then on the next day thereafter; and the members then elected shall hold their seats until their successors are elected at a regular election.

The Rutherford Star, in order to strength en its crude and unfounded positions in favor of the present General Assembly holding over till August, 1872, says:

"We learn that Judge R. P. Dick holds similar views, and are reliably informed that Chief Justice Pearson holds the same. It will be necessary for the Supreme Court to render a decision upon this question, which will be given to the public very soon after the new State Government gets to running."

Judge Dick possesses cultivation, and a good taste in literary matters, and, withal, may be a good jury lawyer, but whether he has a legal mind, and is expert in the construction of laws and Constitutions, must yet be tested by his Supreme Court decisions. The statement of the Star, in regard to Chief Justice Pearson, is wholly unauthorized. We are authorized to say that the Chief Justice has given no such opinion, nor will he give any authorized opinion upon the subject, until required to do so officially.

To the Supreme Court the people of North Carolina look anxiously for proper and safe constructions of law and of Constitutions, and especially do they rely upon the eminent ability and experience of Chief Justice Pearson, to shield them from the evils of vicious and unfounded constructions, both of the laws of the State and of the Constitution.

A SPECIAL Washington telegram to the Louisville Journal says of the reconciliation patched up between Grant and Butler by George Wilkes, the horse-man, that "Butler has all along been willing to compound with Grant for a consideration. The item in this instance is for a foreign mission."—There is no Court in Europe, Asia, Africa, or any where else, to which Butler might be accredited, that his infamy has not reached, and none where he would be regarded otherwise than with the contempt and detestation due to his character.

POVERTY OF THE PEOPLE.

We asked our friends throughout the State, some time ago, that, in writing us, they would give a correct view of the prospects of the crops, and some general facts in regard to the condition of the people, both black and white, in the several counties,—their means of sustaining themselves, their prosperity or their poverty.

We regret that none of our friends have complied with our request, and we are, therefore, unable to express a correct opinion in regard to their condition. The evidences of poverty daily before our eyes, and the verbal expressions we have drawn from individuals that we see, satisfy us that many if our people are suffering, if they are not on the borders of starvation.

At no time, except during the first three months succeeding the merciless ravages upon an unprotected people of Sherman's bummers, have we seen so many hearty men, women and children, both white and black, crowding around the Freedmen's Bureau, as we have seen for the last three months in this city. Persons, whose appearance indicates that, with the most ordinary industry and frugality, they ought to have provided against abject want, appear daily about the office of the Agent of the Freedmen's Bureau, in crowds, from morning until night, from Wake and all the contiguous counties around, with imploring and half-starved looks, and with their bags, asking for bread and meat.—What Dr. Vogell, the Agent, can do for them, we do not know. We believe he is ready to do what he can. Some get supplies and some do not. It is impossible for him to tell, in every instance, who are worthy and deserving, and who are not, and, therefore, we have urged the importance of having some systematic arrangement in each neighborhood, by which really needy and worthy persons shall be relieved, so that the charities of the government shall not be misdirected. From what we learn, many of the most needy and suffering, not able to be represented at the Bureau, are neglected, while many, who ought to be ashamed to beg, are frequent applicants.

We are confident, and we think we can say it without prejudice, that the Bureau is doing, even in this matter, much more harm than good. Without design or encouragement on the part of the Agents of the Bureau, too many of our people are learning to depend almost entirely upon the alms of the government. The government, in this way, is fastening upon the South a fearful amount of pauperism and crime, which for years will entail upon us unimaginable and irremediable trouble.

Many of our people are poor, very poor, and suffering. They need help, and where the body of the people are too poor to relieve them, as is generally the case, the government ought to help them; but it can be done far more efficiently, and at a trifling expense, by committing the dispensation of its alms to the authorities of the several counties, who are charged with the duty of relieving the needy and the poor.

OUR POSITION.—It has been intimated that the Sentinel is so chagrined at the success of the scallawags and carpet-baggers, that it is sore-headed, and would throw impediments in the way of the organization of the Legislature and inauguration of the State officers, &c. We have said nothing like it, and we certainly have no disposition to prevent their enjoying the honors or the spoils of office, so long as they have the shadow of a legitimate claim to them.

We expressed our real sentiments, when we affirmed, some days ago, that we did not envy the office or position of any Radical elected in the recent election. We opposed none of them from personal pique, malice or dislike, but purely on account of their principles, both political and moral, and because of the general incapacity of the ticket. Those who are entitled to office, by the choice of a fair majority, we trust will prove better qualified than we feared. We hope to aid in defeating them for re-election, when their terms expire,—of which we have little doubt.

All we ask of the Radical officers elected is, that they will grow better personally, but will do their worst in carrying out the principles of their party, if the two things can go together. Our certainty of defeating them, hereafter, will be in proportion to their fidelity to Radicalism.

"It will be remembered that immediately after the collapse of Mr. Davis and the Confederacy, the Chief Justice made a political or philanthropic tour of observation through the Southern States—an expedition rendered somewhat conspicuous from his public assurances to the blacks at various points touching their freedom and their civil and political rights. From that time the Chief Justice became a special favorite among the freedmen for the Presidential succession, and they have not forgotten him.—N. Y. Herald.

A year ago, or thereabouts, a Radical meeting was held in this city, composed, as such meetings always are, almost entirely of negroes, at which Judge Chase was declared their first choice for the Presidency. The Junior Editor of the Standard, by the way, (Joseph William,) was present, and, we believe, addressed the meeting in advocacy of the claims of the Chief Justice. How many of these negroes, to-day, would vote for Judge Chase, their life-long friend against Grant, who declared in December last, that they were not capable of the intelligent exercise of the right of suffrage, and who, some time last year, proclaimed very lustily, in the presence of the President, that this was a white man's government and must remain so?

THE true white men of the South have never descended to unworthy or derogatory arts to obtain or influence the negro vote. They have not Africanized themselves and gone down into the arena to hug and caress the negro for his suffrage. Were they to do so, they could probably easily control the great majority of the race. And, were they to do that, there would be no party in the country half so clamorous for disfranchising the negroes as the Radicals. The sole and only reason why the Radical party desire the negroes to vote is that they may vote the Radical ticket.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

HOT SPRINGS, BATH COUNTY, VA., June 25th, 1868.

Editors of the Sentinel:—Suppose me at Richmond, enjoying, for a day only, the hospitality of a Virginian, and he a kinsman, and what is more, a "man of mark,"—though I say it who should not say it."—This beautiful city is only gradually recovering from the awfully destructive fire that swept over it at the time of its evacuation. Two years ago,—great as the destruction from fire had been,—it was confidently believed that, in a few years, the city would have retrieved a prosperity not only equalling, but surpassing, any it had yet known. For then, to one standing on Gamble's Hill, which overlooks Richmond, the clamor of trowels and hammers, everywhere resounding beneath him, made it seem like an enormous beehive,—so incessant was the industry. But these anticipations have not been realized,—the energy of the people was checked for the want of capital, and extensive ruins, and large, ugly chasms still remain as eye sores to the visitors. The people complained of the prostration of trade,—that there was comparatively little doing in the purchase and sale of dry goods, or in the manufacture of flour, and that the tobacco business, in its various forms, was the only prosperous one at present. Before I left home, I saw an article in some paper, stating that the Californians, who would export 20,000,000 bushels of wheat from their State of the crop of '67, were bringing large quantities round to Richmond to be manufactured at the City Mills, (which have, for many years, been celebrated for making good flour,) and receive their stamp, for the purpose of enhancing its value in Foreign markets. Whether this is so or not, I could find no one in Richmond who knew anything about it.

At 7:06, on Thursday morning of last week, we left the city by the train on the Central Railroad, for the mountains. The crops of wheat and corn, oats and tobacco, from Richmond to Gordonsville, looked more promising than any I had seen since entering the State, although the country is generally poor; at all events they were better than they were last year. Some of the farmers along the route had commenced harvesting, and I found the heads large and the grain plump and full. At Gordonsville, while slaking my thirst with a bunch of delicious cherries, as we waited for the train from Alexandria, the first man that stepped out of the cars on the platform, was my old friend and learned coadjutor at Davidson College, Gen. D. H. Hill; since then better known as the "fighting General" of the last war, and now as the able Editor of the Land We Love. I had not seen him since our toilsome and sad retreat before Sherman's advancing columns, when he looked dejected, care worn, and nearly worn out. But the other day, he seemed to be in fine health, and fine spirits, and full of hope and energy. Never did two lady friends, on meeting after a long separation, talk more in in one ten minutes than we did. From Gordonsville to the foot of the Blue Ridge, we pass through Albemarle, for many years the crack county of the State for raising wheat, in quantity and quality excelling all others. Last year, it seemed to us, the train of cars swept along for twenty miles on a stretch, in some places, through fields of rank growing wheat on both sides the road.—This year, these same fields were mostly in corn or clover, and if the wheat crop of the country is equal to that of last year, then it must be out of sight of the railroad. Charlottesville,—and awhile further on,—the University, were alive with white people, and the few blacks to be seen, for a wonder, had something to do. I never pass through the great tunnel without a feeling of awe! For four and a half minutes, not a word was uttered—if there was breathing, as no doubt there was, I could not hear it. The strong current of air rushing through put all the lights out as soon as we entered, and total darkness ensued—"darkness that might be felt"—as Milton says, though I did not feel it. But if Albemarle did not give a sight of wheat-fields, old Augusta did. From Waynesboro, on by Staunton, through Buffaloe Gap, all along the valley to Millboro, and thence in the valleys to this place—wheat—wheat—wheat—and of the finest quality. In this distance, there was no appearance of rust. And then the fields of Timothy and Herd's Grass, and Clover, and then the fat cattle, too lazy to eat, and the colts cutting all sorts of capers, as the engine and train thundered along, and the rustic farmers with their sons ploughing their own corn-fields, and the women under the deep shade trees at the spring and creek side, putting up butter as yellow as gold, or doing the washing of the family, all together made my breast throb with gratitude, and filled my eyes with tears of joy. Oh! if we were only let alone, what a heritage we should possess and enjoy in a few years! With nothing to regret in the past but the failure of our glorious cause,—this failure and its consequences should be accepted in good faith, and without a murmur. The future is always under the control of resolute men; and with industry, and the influx of capital from abroad, which must soon (and is now to some extent) be tempted by the superabundant natural resources of the South, there can be no reason why national prosperity should not be fully re established within half a dozen years—that is, if the Federal Government would just let us alone, or would pursue a wise and generous course, allaying irritation, and diverting the minds of the people from their unsuccessful sacrifices, by pointing out and encouraging the splendid rewards of industry.

There is one serious offset to the pleasure of a traveller to these Springs. After whirling along through a beautiful and highly cultivated country, chatting on all sorts of topics with old friends and new acquaintances, while seated in luxurious cars, we reach Millboro, our last Station on the Rail Road, 180 or 185 miles from Richmond, at 6 o'clock P. M. occupying about eleven hours in travelling. This is all pleasant enough. But now comes "the tug of"—horses. In less than five minutes, we are huddled into old fashioned stage coaches—very excellent of the kind, it is true; and as soon as the baggage is strapped on, and the agent cries out "all right!" away we go as fast as we can for a while, but are soon brought to a walk so creeping, that one doubts sometimes whether he is moving at all, and this doubt would be confirmed but for the everlasting jostling, and jolting, and rolling and pitching of the coach. We crossed two mountains, and reached the "Warm" after 11 o'clock at night, taking 5 mortal hours to travel 15 miles! And so bruised and battered and worn-out was I, that I went supperless to bed. Next morning, we reached the famous "Hot"—of which I may give you some further account in my next.

N. B. Can't get on my boot or shoe yet—hope to bail out my old enemy in a few weeks. L.

A book pedler, who has been in Troy, about two weeks, trying to sell the life of H. U. Grant, has given up in despair. He says: "I been a book-agent for a number of years, and have never before failed to be successful in their sale. But the "Life of Grant" won't sell. Nobody cares for Grant. His own party rejects his "Life" with indifference, and in many instances with contempt."—World.

CLINTON MALE ACADEMY.

THE TRUSTEES OF THIS INSTITUTION desiring to establish permanently a School of the highest character have engaged the services of Professor B. F. GRADY and M. McLEOD, Esq., and now offer to the public a Seminary worthy of their patronage. Where the Principals are known, no words of commendation need be said in their favor. Long experience in teaching, united with those qualities indispensably requisite to the proper training of the youthful mind, render them eminently fitted for the duties of friend and instructor.

The situation is remarkably healthy; the community is universally regarded as uncommonly moral, intelligent and pleasant, and offers, therefore, many and superior inducements to parents and others, who are compelled to entrust the education of their sons or wards to others.

Any information that may be desired in regard to terms, &c., will be furnished with pleasure by either of the Teachers, or by the Trustees.

Wake Forest College, N. C.

THE FALL TERM OF THIS INSTITUTION will open on the first day of August, 1868, with the prospect of increased patronage and success. The complete assurance given at the recent Commencement of the adaptedness of the University system to the wants of the times, and of its feasibility, encourages its friends to believe that the College has entered upon a career of popularity and usefulness hitherto unknown in its history. The financial embarrassments to which all Southern Colleges have been subjected are not felt to the same extent at Wake Forest as at some others, in consequence of the considerable amount of original endowment saved, and of the favorable reception with which the Agents of the College meets in securing additional funds. An expenditure of more than $2,000 has been recently made in improving the condition of the building and grounds.

Determined to bring advantages within reach of the largest number possible, the Trustees, seconded by the Faculty, have reduced the price of Board and Tuition to the lowest practicable rates.

The officers of instruction are gentlemen of tried ability in their several departments, and the success attending their efforts in the past is the best guarantee the public can have for the future.

The location of the College in point of healthfulness and accessibility, (being situated on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad a few miles from the Capital of the State,) is not surpassed by those of any other in the land; while the moral and social influences connected with and surrounding it, and the peculiar discipline enforced, present inducements to parents of no ordinary kind.

A system of PUBLIC LECTURES on literary and scientific subjects has been introduced, with a view to increase the interest of the young men in the several departments of study, and to furnish additional incentives to investigation and research.

Extensive and well selected LIBRARIES belonging to the Societies, and complete APPARATUS, PHILOSOPHICAL and CHEMICAL, are not to be omitted in the enumeration of the advantages possessed.

Another encouraging feature is that there are, at present, thirteen young men engaged in studies preparatory to the work of the Ministry; and it may not be amiss to state that any Minister, who may apply for admission will receive tuition in all the departments free of charge, and those of this class, who are without means, are encouraged to apply to the Board of Education for further assistance.

EXPENSES IN CURRENCY:

Tuition in Preparatory School (per Session)	$20 00
" " Collegiate Course, "	35 00
Board per week in private families (table fare)	2 50 to 3 00
Board, per week, with boarding,	2 00 to 2 75
Room rent (in those lodging in College Building) per session	3 00
Servants' hire	3 00
Washing, per month,	1 50

No Student is permitted to register his name until College dues are paid.

THOMASVILLE, N. C.

THE FALL SESSION of this institution will commence on Tuesday, the 4th of August, and continue twenty weeks.

BOARD: $10 per month, and other charges proportionably low. SIXTY DOLLARS must be prepaid by each young lady on entering, and the balance at the end of the term.

The Faculty is full and composed of able and experienced Teachers. The course is extensive embracing all the solid and ornamental branches taught in other Female Colleges. The religious advantages are unsurpassed.

This College is located between Salisbury and Greensboro', one of the most beautiful and healthy towns on the N. C. Central Railroad, and is in two min of the celebrated "Holton Chalybeate Spring." And at the additional expense of 25 cents per day, any of the "College girls" can have the constant use of the water.

THE SENTINEL.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1868.

NEW ADVERTISEMENT.—J. J. Finley, Esq., President of the Peabody Free School, Lake City, Florida, invites proposals for a Principal and an Assistant Teacher. Here is a fine opportunity for some of our educated young men.

Messrs. W. B. Asten & Co., No. 23, Pearl Street, N. Y., advertise Grain and Flour Sacks. They can furnish Grain Sacks of all sizes and qualities. Cotton and Paper Flour Sacks printed to order, &c.

CENSUS OF THE CITY.—We learn that the Commissioners of the City have resolved to have the Census of the City taken at once. The work will be commenced on the 1st of July. This is a highly important matter, and we are pleased to learn that it is to be attended to. Let it be done thoroughly and accurately.

F. OF T.—A meeting of "Oak City Council," Friends of Temperance, will be held to-night, at 8 o'clock.

Every member is requested to be present, as the election of officers will take place.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The (Congressional) Legislature meets day after to-morrow. A number of members have already arrived, and candidates for the various offices within their gift—from Senator down to Assistant Doorkeeper,—are as plenty as black-berries, of all hues, and as busy as "bees in a tar-bucket." Again we say: Blessed are those who expect nothing.

HYDE.—We regret exceedingly to hear gloomy tidings from this county,—the Granary of the East. The following extract from a letter from a gentleman in that county tells a sad story:

"A great disaster has befallen Hyde county. The crops are again destroyed by floods, and this time more completely ruined, than ever before. My farm will not produce one nubbin, when it should have brought 14,000 bushels of corn. The wheat is also ruined."

GEN. DOCKERY, of North Carolina, Mr. Jno. Pool, of North Carolina, Gen. Abbott, of New Hampshire and Col. Heaton, of Ohio,—the leading aspirants for seats in the United States Senate,—are all on hand and active. Post Taylord, also, is really a candidate. This is "Nojoque" nor a fish story.

A SPECIMEN CARPET BAGGER.—Thomas Whittemore, the Radical treasurer of the town of Spencer, Massachusetts, having absconded with $18,000 of the public funds in his carpet-sack, was caught in Mississippi, recently, where he had gone to run for an office. Restoring the money, he was allowed to pursue his designs upon the pockets of the people of Mississippi. We have no doubt that he persuaded the negroes that he was their peculiar and disinterested friend, and that they elected him, the other day, to some fat office.

SAID Mr. Beck, of Kentucky, in the House of Representatives, when the Bill relieving disabilities was under consideration: "That it is converted into a mere party machine, by which the worst men in the country are whitewashed and made clean before the law, if they will only make up in party servility what they lack in integrity and honesty, is too apparent to need even exposure; and that the best and truest men in the country, those in whose honor, integrity and devotion to principle, the restoration of these now disjointed States to their proper relations could most safely be intrusted, are to be kept under perpetual ostracism, unless they will abandon, or pretend to abandon, all their principles and bow the knee to the idol which Radicalism has set up and seems determined to maintain, is perfectly plain."

Fitter and truer words were never spoken

THE "ARKANSAS TRAVELLERS" were hardly sworn in in the House of Representatives, before they showed anxiety about their pay and make application to the Sergeant-at-Arms for funds. They claim pay for the whole of the fortieth session, whereas they were only elected March 13, 1868.

IMPEACHMENT.—Hon Thaddeus Stevens regrets the publication of statements regarding his new impeachment articles, as they are decidedly premature. The additional statement that he intended to present them to the House yesterday is entirely without foundation in fact, as he has not as yet made up his mind to present them at all.—Forney.

It is estimated that already over twenty thousand persons have applied for tickets of admission to the Democratic National Convention which convenes in New York city on the Fourth of July. The room, it is said, will not hold more than eight thousand. There will be at least forty thousand disappointed individuals.

The California delegation to the Democratic National Convention have arrived in New York, and have put up at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

ELECTION RETURNS.

We have just been put in possession of Gen. Canby's return of the official vote in this State at the recent elections. Whether from a good or bad motive, Gen. Canby fails to make any distinction between the white and black voters. No one, except those who have been in possession of the registry lists or poll books, can tell, with any certainty, how many black or white voters there are in any particular county or in the State.

The aggregate registered vote on the Convention was 125,968—93,006 for and 32,962 against the Convention—against 178,665 on the lists of registration; showing that 52,697 registered persons failed to vote on the Convention.

The aggregate number of registered names, at the time of the election on the Constitution, was 196,872—93,684 for the Constitution and 74,915 against it; showing that 29,774 registered voters failed to vote in that election, and further showing that the Constitution failed to receive one half of the registered vote in the State by 5,353 votes.

By a not very careful calculation, comparing the previously registered black and white voters on the Convention with the final aggregate vote on the Constitution, we conclude that the number of registered white voters, at the time of the late election, was about 116,556, and the number of registered negro voters was 80,316. Under the new Constitution, at the Presidential election in November, the number of white registered voters will approximate 135,856, while, the number of colored voters being bout 80,316, the full white vote in the State would exceed the full negro vote about 5,740.

NORTH RADICAL DELINEATIONS.—Jas. P. Cowardin, Esq., the Junior Editor of the Richmond Dispatch, has been delighting the people of the cities and towns of Virginia with a Lecture, embodying some admirable delineations of the late negro Radical Convention in Virginia. The Norfolk Journal says:

"His talents as a mimic are of a first-rate order, and those who have attended at the sittings of the memorable Convention aforesaid, declare with one accord that when they shut their eyes they thought that they were in the presence of Platte and Lindsey, and Porter, and Bayne, and of all the other carpet-baggers and negroes.

So wonderful is Mr. Cowardin's talent, that after he had finished his lecture, a gentleman from New England went up to him and told him that "if he would only go on to New Hampshire, he would be able to get what audiences he wanted; for everybody would go to see and hear him."

We should be pleased to see Mr. Cowardin in Raleigh. It would be interesting to contrast his delineations with our recollections of the late "Konenshun," which made a "Konstitooshun" of North Carolina.—Our Virginia neighbor, we'll guarantee, had nothing to equal Billy Kowles, Cuffee Mayo or "de archives o'gravity."

VETO OF THE OMNIBUS BILL.

The following is the message of President Johnson returning the omnibus reconstruction bill, with his objection:

To the House of Representatives:

"In returning to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, a bill entitled 'An act to admit the States of North Carolina, South Carolina Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida to representation in Congress,' I do not deem it necessary to state at length the reasons which constrain me to withhold my approval. I will not, therefore, undertake at this time to re-open the discussion upon the grave constitutional questions involved in the act of March 2d, 1867, and the acts supplemental hereto, in pursuance of which it is claimed in the preamble to this bill these States live formed and adopted Constitutions of State government. Nor will I repeat the objections contained in my message of the 20th instant, returning without my signature the bill to admit to representation the State of Arkansas, and which are equally applicable to the pending measure. Like the act recently passed in reference to Arkansas, this bill supersedes the plain and simple mode prescribed by the Constitution for the admission to seats in the respective Houses of Senators and Representatives from the several States. It assumes authority over six States of the Union which have never been delegated to Congress or is even warranted by previous unconstitutional legislation on the subject of restoration. It imposes conditions which are in derogation of the equal rights of the States, and founded upon a theory which is subversive of the fundamental principles of the Government. In the case of Alabama it violates the plighted faith of Congress, by forcing upon that State a Constitution which was rejected by the people according to the express terms of an act of Congress requiring that a majority of the registered electors should vote upon the question of its ratification.

For these objections, and many others that might be presented, I cannot approve this bill, and therefore return it for the action of Congress required in such cases by the Federal Constitution.

ANDREW JOHNSON."

THE NAKED RADICAL PROGRAMME.—Stripped of all shams and false pretences, the Radical policy is this: Every man in the South who espouses negro suffrage and will vote for Radical candidates shall be enfranchised and eligible to office. Those shall not be restored to the Union except on this basis, and individuals shall not be enfranchised on any other. The test oath inserted in the Constitution of Arkansas and in the Constitutions of other of the Southern States requires of all persons, as the condition of being allowed to register and vote, that they shall swear they will never seek to change the laws of the State relating to the political and civil rights and privileges conferred upon the negroes. These instruments will thus not only disfranchise the native whites, but all Northern settlers and all negroes even who will not take the oath prescribed. Thus the government of all these States and all the offices, civil and military (militia,) will be in the hands of the negroes, who can do as they please. This is the real Radical programme.—Whig.

We are glad to record the fact that Cambridge University, in England, honored self, on the 28th of May last, by conferring the degree of LL. D. upon Mathew F. Maury, who sails for this country on the 1st of July, to enter upon his duties at Washington College, Va.

Grant, when he was nominated at Chicago, didn't answer much, and the people are likely to conclude, long before November, that he won't answer at all.

For the Sentinel.

SOIREE MUSICALE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Being one who attended the Musical Soiree, given at the admirable School of the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock, on Thursday evening last, I deem it my duty to give to the readers of the Sentinel a brief account of that most pleasant entertainment.

The Concert room, which was very tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers, was filled, at an early hour, by the elite of Hillsboro'. To those who have ever visited the village, it may seem useless to say that its beauties (even when not reinforced, as upon this occasion, by an ally from the West) may challenge comparison with any city in the State.

The following was the programme for the evening, which, albeit rather too long, was listened to with attention and pleasure throughout:

PART I.

1. Piano Quartette.—Swedish "National Air," by Haffner—LAMM.—Misses Eilers, Witherspoon, Murphy and Strudwick.
2. Piano Solo.—"L'Argentine," Mazurka Elegante.—KETTERER.—Miss Hamilton.

8. Piano Duett.—"Invitation a la Valse."—WEBER.—Miss J. Williams and Miss Kingsbury.
9. Vocal Solos.—"Fisher Maiden,"—MEYERBEER.—and "Beware."—MOULTON.—Miss Hannah.
10. Grand Duo de Concert for Two Pianos.—"Marche des Amazones"—WEBL.—Miss Mary Nash and Mr. C. T. Lamm.

Prof. Lamm, himself the composer of two of the most popular pieces of the evening, gave evidence of his great skill as a musician, and, what is of far more importance in an instructor, his power of imparting his knowledge to others. To say that everything passed off unusually well, is simply true. There was not a single failure during the evening, although many blushes, and doubtless a few heart quakings. The exquisite execution of the concluding piece of each part drew forth the repeated plaudits of the house.

Now I am no judge of music, and, consequently, cannot justly discriminate between the various performers, but I was glad to find my unlearned opinion, in one instance, corroborated by one of the Principals, who remarked that she had been more pleased by the singing of Miss Ella W—, (of Raleigh,) than by any other performer of the evening.

It may not be improper to add a few words concerning the merits of the School of the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock. In the true sense of the expression, the young ladies form part of the family of the Principals, and enjoy all the advantages of home attention. Everything connected with the institution is of the highest excellence.—Prof. Lamm is fully equal to any musical instructor in the State; and the thoroughness of the instruction in all the English branches, (especial attention being paid to composition), in Mathematics, in French and in painting, commends it to the attention of all who desire a liberal education for their daughters. As long as the memory of Chief Justice Nash is green in North Carolina, a school of such acknowledged excellence, under the care of his daughters, should assuredly receive a hearty support from the good citizens of the State.

ARRIVAL OF A RHINOCEROS.—The first rhinoceros which has appeared in this country for twenty years, was landed in New York recently. The animal is but four years old, and measures nine feet in length, and four and a half in height, weighing over 3,000 pounds. He will not attain his full growth till the age of twenty-five to thirty years, when his height may be expected to reach seven feet, and his length sixteen feet. As his daily food, he eats two bushels of corn, one bushel of potatoes, and three hundred pounds of hay, drinking fifteen to twenty buckets of water. The present specimen is of the black Asiatic kind, which is very morose and sullen, and subject to sudden and violent fits of fury, causing him to rush indiscriminately at any object in his path. The horn on his nose is a formidable weapon. His scales serve as a protection against all injury, and are said to be impervious to shot. Creases behind the forelegs, under the belly and on the breast, where the scales meet, are the only places that can be pierced.

THE GOLDEN RULE.—In his speech in New York city, at the grand banquet given to the Chinese embassy, Mr. Burlingame said, amongst many other things, "China comes with the great doctrine of Confucius, uttered two thousand three hundred years ago: 'Do not unto others what you would not have others do unto you.' Will you not respond with the more positive doctrine of Christianity, 'We will do unto others what we would have others do unto us?'"

Mr. Burlingame well says that there is a great difference between these two utterances. One is negative; the other is positive. One is human; the other is divine.

"Rumor says Senator Norton will shortly wed one of the most accomplished and respectable Baltimore ladies, a daughter of a wealthy citizen of that city.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 27, P. M.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner presented memorials from Boston merchants, stating that the pending legislation on River expectation was very injurious to commerce.

The Judiciary Committee reported adversely to increasing the Federal Jurors' fees.

The Committee on Claims reported a bill, compensating Joseph Segar for property used by the Government at Fort Monroe.

The Colorado admission bill was resumed.

The Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Committee on Claims reported a bill, granting sixteen thousand dollars to the owner of the Barque Barry, destroyed at sea by the Confederate cruiser Florida.

The River and Harbor bill was resumed. Nearly every member has a pet harbor or river needing money. The opponents of the bill vote for every proposition, in the hopes of loading it so that it will ultimately fail, which result is probable. Adjourned.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 27.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular, warning the people that the taxes, and all dues arising under the Revenue laws, whether from fines or penalties, can only be receipted by bonded officers, or, in certain cases, by Clerks of Courts. All direct or implied authority to special agents to collect money is revoked.

The Brooks and Butler investigating committee will report that the matters charged against Brooks are not subjects for Congressional investigation, and that the matters charged against Butler occurred before his election.

The law ignoring the votes of citizen soldiers, in the recent municipal election, is a law by the lapse of ten days.

Governor Bullock, who leaves for Atlanta, to-night, expects that the Congressional conditions will be accepted, and that the Senators elected and the Georgia representatives will be admitted on or before the 7th proximo.

The Senate has rejected Gen. Mulford as Collector for Richmond District, and confirmed Gen. McMahon as Minister to Paraguay.

Grant has telegraphed McDowall: "Turn over Arkansas to the civil authorities, as soon as you can."

TO LAND OWNERS.

HAVING BEEN APPOINTED, BY THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL AND MINERAL LAND COMPANY, Agent for all that part of North Carolina lying east of and including Catawba County, I am authorized to say, to any person or persons having 2,000 acres in one body, partially cleared and near a Rail Road, that if they will subdivide their lands the Company will purchase alternate lots at their assessed values for taxation or as ascertained by two disinterested parties, paying for the same in the Company's stock—the Company obligating itself to place a white settler on every 200 acres, so acquired, within three years, or, failing to do so, such land unsettled to revert to the original owner; the owner to retain possession until the land is settled.

The object of this system is to bring into the State as industrious and thrifty population and to enhance the value of our lands. It has been adopted in other States and is said to be working finely.

This Company was chartered by our Legislature of 1866. Land owners will please address me for particulars at Reidsville, N. C.

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

ASSETS, $9,000,000. DIVISIBLE SURPLUS $1,884,768,51.

No. POLICIES 52,700. DIVIDENDS, 50 per cent.

In these days of competition between Life Insurance Companies, much is said by rival Agents, each claiming their Company to be represented to be the best. Without saying anything by disparagement of any Company, or, by simple assertion, anything in its favor, the ÆTNA begs leave to refer to the annexed table, compiled from the official and sworn statements of twenty of the largest Companies in America, made to the Insurance Commissioners of the State of New York. The table shows the ratio of expense to each $100 received by each Company, for the three years ending January 1, 1868.

It will be seen that the expenses of the ÆTNA are much lower than any other Company; and, after the average is struck, the ÆTNA, in 1865, saved $10.41 out of each $100 received—more than the average; in 1866, $7.19, and in 1867, $4.90. The receipts of the ÆTNA were, in 1865, $1,655,309; in 1866, $3,523,376, and in 1867, $5,120,447. Consequently, its savings in the three years were $[illegible],919.39, to which add 7 per cent. interest to July 1, 1868: $130,387.64, making a grand total of $797,307 03 saved over the average of all other Companies.

This is the measure of success, as applied by the Hon Elizur Wright, the greatest of American actuaries, to all Companies, and simply means that the Company whose RATIO of expense to its income is the least, is the best able to pay large dividends to its policy holders. That the ÆTNA is THAT Company, these comparisons of official statements plainly show.

Official Statement showing the Expenses and Losses by the Twenty Largest Insurance Companies in America.

[From Our Young Folks.]

GRASS.

Out in the fields to walk,
Hearing the grasses talk,
In the sweet mouth of June!
These are the words they say,
As in low whispers they Speak through the silence of noon:

"Sunbeams, come lie on me;
Rain, here is room for thee;
Clouds, here your shadow may rest;
Wind, you may rustle through;
Cow, here is food for you;
Horse, come and roll on my breast.

"Ground-bird, come here and see
How you can nest with me;
Child, run about me and play.
Strong man, with cheek so brown,
Here come and cut me down,
Toss me and turn me to hay.

"Fill high the farmer's loft;
Then go and gather off
Fodder for cattle at night;
Take all you need of me,
I'll not live selfishly,
Not for my own delight.

"Grasshopper, butterfly,
Bees, that with 'honeyed thigh'
Ever on busy wing rove,
Born of one parent we,
All of one family,
Linked to each other in love.

"Golden-hued buttercup,
Over me glancing up,
By the light summer breeze wooed,
Yes, too, shall share with me
This happy destiny,
Born to be useful and good.

"So shall the early spring,
Life to our bosoms bring,
Verdure and beauty restore;
Then, taking heed of us,
All who have need of us
Welcome shall be as before."

CHEAP FOR CASH.

LOOK OUT FOR A. CREECH!

JUST RECEIVED, $15,000 worth of new Spring and Summer Goods, which must, at all events, be sold within the next sixty days, if possible—if you want

LADIES' DRESS GOODS,

I have a beautiful assortment of the various styles and latest importations. It is a well known fact, and universally admitted, that to buy your goods. This can be, and is substantiated daily, by hundreds.

CREECH'S IS THE PLACE

If you want Cassimeres, Tweeds, Kentucky Jeans, Cotton and Linen Goods of all descriptions, and suitable for gentlemen, boys and children's wear, CREECH'S is the place to look for them.

At Low Prices,

Why, you may go up one side of Fayetteville Street and down the other; yes, and then the cross streets, and you will be bound to come to the conclusion that CREECH'S is the place you had better do your trading. If you want trimmed or untrimmed, CREECH'S is the place to get them. If you wish to purchase any style of

LADIES' BONNETS,

LADIES, MISSES OR CHILDREN'S HATS,

don't buy until you have seen CREECH'S, or you will miss a great bargain, as he has one of the largest and most beautiful assortments in the City. If you are looking for

MEN'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S HATS,

Ladies, Men and Children's Shoes, why if you stop at Creech's you will surely be suited in style, quality and price.

I told the people, some time ago, that there was no House in the City that could or would sell goods cheaper than I, and now I intend to keep my word. I said then what I meant, and now mean what I say. So don't fail to come to CREECH'S, on R. Smith's corner.

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, [illegible] at all times:

A[illegible]s of the Constitution of the [illegible]d the harmonious Union of [illegible]

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

Terms:

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of actre facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
